Congratulations!

Thank you for taking the time to come in and see our office and meet our staff and Dr. Lori. We are so excited for what is to come for your growing family. Having a new baby is an exciting time for parents-to-be, and there may seem to be endless decisions and choices to be made – but all you really need is each other, a car-seat and a pediatrician who is available when you need him/her, who is as close to your home as you feel is necessary and who will answer your not-as-silly-as-you-think questions. We hope you find this visit informative and we encourage you to ask any questions you may have about your child's future health care.
